RICHMOND PROGRESS

First, last and all the time for Richmond, California — "Industry's Western Goal" — a fine city in which to work and live.

"The Friendly Newspaper That Dares to Tell The Truth"

FIFTH YEAR | Richmond, California, Friday November 26th 1937 | NUMBER FORTY-TWO

Council Resolutes "to Maintain Law & Order"

COUNTY WILL PARTICIPATE IN LOW LEVEL TUNNEL FETE

DEVELOPMENT

THE NEW "TUNNEL ROAD."

While the commercial benefits of the new Broadway Low Level Tunnel are all in favor of the City of Oakland and Central and Eastern Contra Costa County not for Richmond, yet this city will not hold back in its part of the great celebration for this modern highway improvement when it happens on Sunday December 5th.

Folks hereabouts are generally familiar with the great advantage in savings on time and nerves that will happen as a result of this lower level longer tunnel which eliminates so much of the winding hilly road of the past.

So we congratulate our sister cities which will benefit and also the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce which is arranging the celebration.

Governor Merriam will be the speaker of the day.

TRANSPORTATION

SQUARE DEAL FOR R. R.s.

One can honestly pity the railroads today. Time was when that great branch of our national ecoonomics was the whipping boy of all irate citizens, and the freight rates and passenger fares were fair meat in open season all the time for the demagogue on the soap box or in the corner or crossroads grocery store.

Today those same railroads have seen the prices of those things they have to buy go up 40 per cent, taxes up 25 per cent, wages up 18 per cent—while the level of freight rates has gone DOWN 10 per cent and the passenger fares about 18 per cent.

Add to that a competition—the motor truck lines in freight and the automobile in passenger life—and it is easy to see that the position of the railroads is vastly different than in the old days.

The welfare of the railroads is of particular interest to the citizens of Richmond, as it is to citizens the nation over, because we have here hundreds of families directly dependent upon the transportation industry for their livelihood, as Richmond is the western transcontinental terminus of the great Santa Fe Railway system.

So that when we hear that on November 29, next Monday, the Interstate Commerce Commission will meet to hear the railroads plea for a fair deal in the rates, we certainly hope, for the benefit of the many friends we have in the railroad business, that they get the sqare deal they that they get the fair and square deal to which they are entitled.

MUSIC

EINE NACHT IN DEN ALPEN

A week from next Saturday, December 4, at Winters Hall is to be held the next big musical event in Richmond when the Richmond Maennerchor will present "Eine Nacht in den Alpen" (A Night in the Alps). Being a musical evening in which will appear the Swiss yodelers and singers of the Swiss Alpenroesli of San Francisco and the great chorus of 100 voices of the San Francisco Maennerchor, one of America's great singing organizations.

As usual there will be dancing and refreshments, the piece de resistance to be Schweitzer Bratwurst mit Lensen.

Joseph Hinkle is chairman of the event, assisted by an energetic committee of the local Maennerchor.

MISCELLANY

Wisconsin's Old Religious Building

Oldest religious building in Wisconsin is the Old Mission church on Madeline island, one of the Apostles group in Lake Superior.

Romans Built Mine Shafts

Some of the shafts and corridors in the "iron mountain" mines in Austria were made by the ancient Romans and have been in continuous use since ----

Oldest Inhabitant

Its age estimated at between 12,000 and 15,000 years, a 20-foot macrozamia tree on Tamborine mountain, Queensland, is believed to be the oldest living object in the world.

Ruins of Bothwell Castle

The ruins of Bothwell castle are on Bothwell bank, near Bothwell bridge, in Bothwell, a town and parish of Lanarkshire, Scotland, not far from the city of Glasgow.

The length of the Alaskan coast line exceeds that of the United States.

Fighting Against One's Nature

Puritanism means fighting against one's human nature; consequently it is unpleasant.

CRIME

A GOOD MARSHAL

With a deep sense of personal loss the Progress regrets to chronicle the passing of a good friend, Raoul Dorsey, deputy U. S. Marshal, who was killed in the line of duty for his government at 12:30 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day.

Our mutual friend, Ed Hill, brought us the sad news of his death, and information was obtained later through other friends and the newspapers concerning the circumstances of his demise.

In company with two inspectors of the Oakland Police Department, Marshal Dorhey had gone to a house in the Oakland West Side in search of a Federal fugitive. At the first house they were referred to a second house and when they rapped on the door and told the owner of the house they were police officers, the householder without warning fired a shot-gun through the front door and fatally wounded Marshal Dorsey in the neck.

Later it turned out that the householder was an old man, 73, partially deaf, who believed the officers were robbers. But that doesn't bring back Dorsey's life. And the world of crime, however indirectly, is to blame for the loss of this young man, in the prime of his life.

A Kentuckian by birth, he was a splendid American, particularly active in the Democratic party and in the Societe de Noigel, a war veterans organization, also a member of the Poet's Club and a composer of several fine lyrics. His many friends will attend the funeral to be held tomorrow, Saturday, at the Cathedral Chapel, 26th and Telegraph, Oakland, and further services at the Presidio in San Francisco. The remains will be interred in the National Cemetery there.

Left to mourn are his widow, and two sons, one in the University of California.

CITY GOVERNMENT

THAT RESOLUTION

One lives to learn. That is true. Yet we would never have believed that we would have lived to see the day when our city council (by "animus" vote) would resolute, as they did at last Monday night's meeting to simply agree to "maintain law and order." And, moreover, that that action would be immediately aided and abetted by the Merchant's Association and the chambers of commerce.

What is our city government FOR, anyway, if it is not prima facie to "maintain law and order?"

Yet, folks, it isn't QUITE as bad as it sounds.

Fact is the whole town is anxious to see the Ford plant in operation once more.

And start it will when the Ford company gets the necessary [illegible] or its machines.

Sure, it didn't do any harm to let Henry Ford know that our business men and our citizens would like to have the assembly plant start once more. We all do. And they know it. And we know that they know it.

And it may be that, having seen the Kansas City branch of the Ford company open up only a few weeks after some representative of the Ford company, however irresponsible, had said that Ford would NEVER open again in that city, our local captains of commerce cannot very well be blamed for wanting to "out K. C." Kansas City in an effort to get our local plant also going.

So (with apologies to the late Lee D. Windrem) we find that our local brain trust turned the white light of its giant intellect on to the current problem—and brought forth the resolution!

Now the Ford plant is a vital and integral part of our community's economic structure. And every assistance should be given to the company and the men who work for the company so that we may earn the assistance of their payroll and the wages their men truly earn.

But to resolute that our city will "maintain law and order"—as a gesture of good will it MAY mean something; but as an act of common sense it certainly IS the chutes!!!

Cuddle Toys from "Odds and Ends"

Fun to sew—inexpensive to make—excellent for Christmas gifts is this collection of cuddle toys. Two pieces with just the necessary "trimming" of ears, mane and tails extra. The kiddies love them! Use up those odds and ends and make your toys as colorful as possible—in short irresistible. In pattern 5932 you will find a pattern of the three toys; directions for making them; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. Fourteenth St., New York, N. Y.

When Sales Drop

Between 1929 and 1933 the expenditure for advertising in newspapers and periodicals dropped 50 per cent, but the value of manufactured products showed a much greater reduction percentage.

Don't Neglect Your Child's Cold

Don't let chest colds or croupy coughs go untreated. Rub Children's Musterole on child's throat and chest at once. This milder form of regular Musterole penetrates, warms, and stimulates local circulation. Floods the bronchial tubes with its soothing, relieving vapors. Musterole brings relief naturally because it's a "counter-irritant"—NOT just a salve. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Three strengths: Regular, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-ache ensues.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling. Feel tired, under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide confidence than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

★★★ By VIRGINIA VALE ★★★

IT IS a toss up whether Madeleine Carroll or Loretta Young will be the most-exquisitely dressed screen star this winter. Miss Carroll writes from Paris that she is having the time of her life selecting costumes for "The River Is Blue" which she will start making for Walter Wanger when she returns to Hollywood.

Loretta Young was in New York recently buying fur coats, hats, and dresses by the score, just as if she hadn't had any new clothes in ages. Hollywood designers have just about run out of ideas for Loretta for in her last four pictures she has had altogether some 80 changes of costume, and each one was supposed to be a knockout. The more extreme and bizarre clothes are, the better she likes them—so she keeps designers working overtime.

Madeleine Carroll

You will be hearing a lot from now on about Ilona Massey, who makes her American screen debut in M-G-M's "Rosalie." Officials of the company are so delighted with her performance in a minor role that they are going to give her the title role in "Pompadour," one of the most alluring beauties in history or drama.

There is one popular radio player who will have to mend her ways if she ever goes into motion pictures—and most of them do sooner or later. Alice Frost of the "Big Sister" cast comes out of rehearsals with her forehead all smudged. She holds a pencil in her hand, and in a moment of dramatic tension invariably draws the point across her forehead.

Because of her good work in the new Fred Astaire picture, "Damsel in Distress," Joan Fontaine is going to get a strange reward. She is going to be starred in "Curtain Call," which Katherine Hepburn turned down. Don't think she minds taking this hand-me-down, though. It is a grand story.

Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy will be in the cast of a new comedy that will feature Irene Dunne and as a result she is the envy of all Hollywood as well as the public at large. Her outstanding success as a comedienne in "The Awful Truth" influenced Universal to postpone their biography of Madame Curie and instead of that story to cast her in a comedy. Thus she has established herself as a double threat actress, at home in heavy drama as well as light farce.

ODDS AND ENDS—Constance Bennett is the envy of all the pampered stars, because Alfalfa Sweizer of "Our Gang" comedies serenades her in his hilariously-uncertain tenor . . . Kay Murray and Edgar Bergen have evidently decided that they are in pictures to stay because they have both bought ranches out near Al Jolson's . . . Ann Sothern's sister, Bonnie Lake, has composed a song and sold it for "Girl of the Golden West" . . . Kate Smith is toying with the idea of trying motion pictures again.

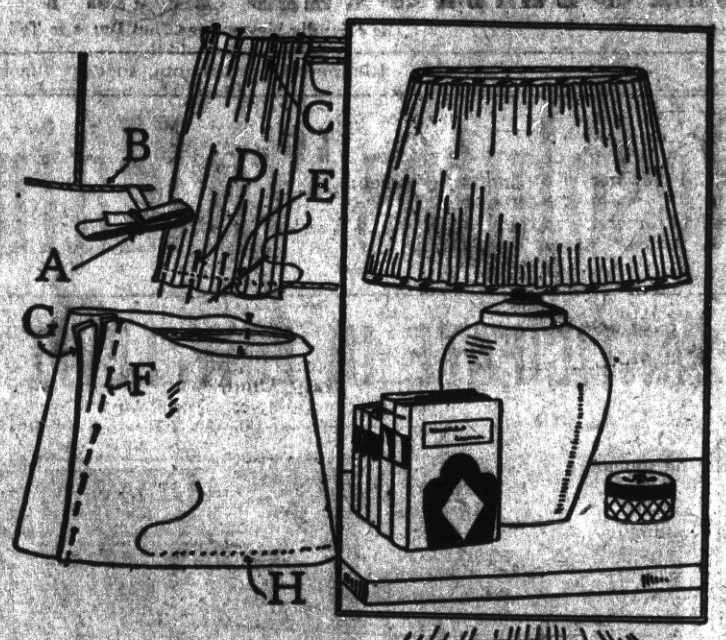
HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears



Silk Shades Give a Soft Glow

THERE is subtility in the light that glows through a silk shade, and many decorators are using them for the room that needs the softness of plaited folds and the mellowness obtained by placing two tones of fabric one over the other.

Two tones of China silk, one to be used for a plain lining and the other for a gathered outside covering will make an attractive shade. Before you buy the material it is best to experiment with samples one over the other trying them both in daylight and over an artificial light. You will also need a roll of silk binding tape matching the top color of the shade. This tape is to wrap the wire frame. And fancy braid either in gold, silver or a harmonizing tone of silk is used to bind the top and bottom of the shade. Use cotton thread to match the outside tone of the silk.

Slip the binding tape off the roll and wrap a rubber band around it as shown here at A. Working from the inside end of the tape wrap the frame as shown at B. The outside layer of silk is put on next. This is gathered both top and bottom and pinned to the wire covering as at C and D so that it is stretched quite tight. Joinings in the outside covering need not be sewed but may be hidden under the folds. This material is sewed in place as at E.

Next, cut a straight strip for the lining and fit it around the outside of the frame as shown here at F. Trim the joining allowing a seam as shown at G. Sew to the frame at the bottom as at H. Trim quite close at the bottom. Turn lining to inside as at I. Slip stitch the joining. Turn in raw edges at top and whip around top of frame. Pin the binding around and then sew it with stitches buried in the mesh of the braid.

Every Homemaker should have a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book, SEWING. Forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions for making slipcovers and dressing tables; restoring and upholstering chairs, couches; making curtains for every type of room and purpose. Making lampshades, rugs, ottomans and other useful articles for the home. Readers wishing a copy should send name and address, enclosing 25 cents, to Mrs. Spears, 210 South Desplaines St., Chicago, Illinois.

Time Bands Over U. S.

There are four different "times" in the United States. Eastern standard time includes all territory between the Atlantic ocean and a line drawn from Detroit, Mich., to Charleston, S. C.

Central standard time—All the territory between the last-named line and a line drawn from Bismarck, N. D., to the mouth of the Rio Grande. One hour earlier than Eastern.

Mountain standard time—All territory between the last-named line and nearly the west borders of Idaho, Utah, and Arizona. Two hours earlier than Eastern.

Pacific standard time—All territory between the last-named line and the Pacific ocean. Three hours earlier than Eastern.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

INSIST ON GENUINE NUJOL

His Inspiration

We prefer, perhaps, our imaginary picture of our friend, rather than the real one. He, in his affectation, tries to live up to it.

We have known of some footprints on the sands of time that one would like to erase.

We do not want any more things that are a trouble to look after—and a steam yacht is one of them.

"Protecting" wild animals merely to slaughter them doesn't seem to be the ideal ideal.

It doesn't matter so much if a very young man loses his heart and his head at the same time. It is expected of him.

Real glory is to get your portrait on a postage stamp years after you are dead.

Cheap Sales Cost

United States census figures for 1929 show that at a cost of but 1.54 per cent advertising created a market for the $70,434,863,443 worth of manufactured products of that year.

RICHMOND CIVIC LEAGUE DISCUSSES COMMUNITY PROBLEMS IN ACTIVE MEET

The Richmond Civic League had as guest speaker at its regular bi-monthly meeting, Fire Chief W. P. Cooper, who displayed trophies won by his department for lowest scores in number of fires during the years in which he has been at the head of the Richmond Fire Department. These included two silver cups and a half dozen citations for the lowest fire losses during a period of thirteen years. During the last month there was not a dollar lost by fire in this city and only a baker's dozen of fire alarms.

However, the Chief said, that California as a state made a poor showing and that was due mostly to carelessness of smokers. He warned citizens that it is a misdemeanor to lay or to throw a cigarette or leave ashes where there is a possibility of fire. And he related a story of a man who was jailed and fined for setting his bed on fire.

The question of diagonal parking on Macdonald avenue was discussed by Chief Cooper who requested the cooperation of the league to have it eliminated as it retards the progress of fire engines en route to conflagrations.

A motion was made by Mrs. E. F. Gnaga to the effect that a letter should be written to the Merchants Association recommending parallel parking.

D. A. Robertson gave a report of the council meeting last Monday night and Mrs. Arthur Stone reported about the participation of the League in the Armistice Day parade, in which the League entered a float. Mrs. George Ellis advised that the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Railroads had been requested to make the grounds and depots of their respective companies more attractive in Richmond.

Professor Mathurin Dondo, who is president of the organization and presided at the meeting called attention to an advertisement in a local paper advertising the annual dinner of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce occupying fifty dollars worth of space and contended that public funds should be used to advertise the city and not to announce the functions of any organization. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting.

The next meeting of the Richmond Civic League will be held December 14th and Professor Howard Moise of the Chair of Agriculture at the University of California will give an illustrated lecture on house planning, and an exhibit given by the League on the subject.

Mr. Leslie Stanley of Ukiah, was home with his mother Mrs. J. E. George on Belvidere avenue for turkey dinner on Thanksgiving Day. Mr. and Mrs. George also entertained Mrs. George's sister, Miss Delia Wavel.

Miss Wavel recently purchased a home on Crest avenue that was formerly the Judge Roth residence. This domicile, in common with practically every other home in Point Richmond is being renovated and placed in modern repair.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stanley motored to Santa Rosa Thanksgiving Day to have dinner with Mrs. Stanley's mother, Mrs. F. Chrysler.

Off For Bear

Mr. and Mrs. Irl Smith (Miss Taniz Tanagra) of 205 Western Drive lef Wednesday for a few days hunting in Mariposa County. They exptct to bring back a bear inasmuch as they have promised the staff of the progress a choice morsel of ba'ar steak.

DRUIDS INSTALL OFFICERS

Point Richmond Circle of the Druids installed officers Monday night in the Richmond Clubhouse. Miss Louise Novarini was the installing officer. Mrs. Angelina Cizmich was inducted into the office of archdruidess.

The mother of the circle, Mrs. James Parodi of Oakland was present to supervise the installation.

Mrs. Flo Swager is the new first bard; Mrs. Mattie Levaggi, second bard; Mrs. Anna Vlach, conductress; Mrs. Mary Cizmich, assistant conductress; Mrs. Margaret Silva, Chaplain; Joseph Levaggi, inside guardian; Chas. Ceridono, outside guardian.

A past officer's jewel was presented to Mrs. Margaret Silva by Mrs. Parodi who in turn was given a token of appreciation by District Deputy Louise Novarini.

Guests of honor were James Padroni, grand trustee, and Mrs. Mary Cimi, who assisted at the installation. Mrs. Amy Cox and Mrs. Josephine Gervess of Roma Circle, Oakland, were also present.

After dinner speeches were made by all the visitors during the banquet.

December 13 is the date decided upon for the annual Christmas party for the youngsters as well as the adults of the circle. Mrs. Esther Petrich will be chairman.

The mystery package was won by Mrs. Josephine Gerveas.

New Son of Point Richmond

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Downer, 66 Nicholl avenue, are the proud parents of a 10 pound baby boy born in Humboldt Hospital last Monday.

Mrs. William Janke entertained her niece Mrs. Adele Chaplin and her young daughter, at her home on Buena Vista avenue on Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Emig's Thanksgiving

Mrs. Lorenz Emig, of 107 W. Richmond avenue, prominent matron served a delicious Thanksgiving diner to 34 of her Rosicrucian friends from Oakland chapter where her son, Chris Emig is the chapter master. There were also 16 members of the Point Townsend Club present, and dinners were sent out to four sick people who as usual were not forgotten by Mrs. Emig. Two large 17-lb. turkeys with mince pie and buns were the features of the menu, every portion of which was cooked by Mrs. Emig, herself.

Trinity Guild Meets

A small number of members of the Trinity Guild met in the Guild Hall on Wednesday afternoon and decided to give a Christmas party for pupils of the Church school as well as for adults of the congregation during the holiday season.

Bakers Eat Dinner

Last Saturday night was the occasion of the Annual Thanksgiving and Ladies Night Dinner of the Contra Costa County Bakers Association. Mr. Hoefer of the Popular Bakery baked the two big 24-pound turkeys, and there was nearly 100 per cent attendance. Mr. J. De Ruig, the president of the East Bay Retail Bakers Association, was the guest of honor. Mr. Henry H. Heinemann, president, acted as toastmaster. Anthony Scalise, 12 year-old Richmond accordion virtuoso, provided the music.

RACKET SMASHER

Racket-crushing, crusading young Thomas E. Dewey beams for the camera after his recent election as district attorney of New York county. Running as a fusionist candidate on the same ticket as reform Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia he was elected by a landslide vote. He gained fame as special prosecutor when he succeeded in smashing major crime rackets in New York city.

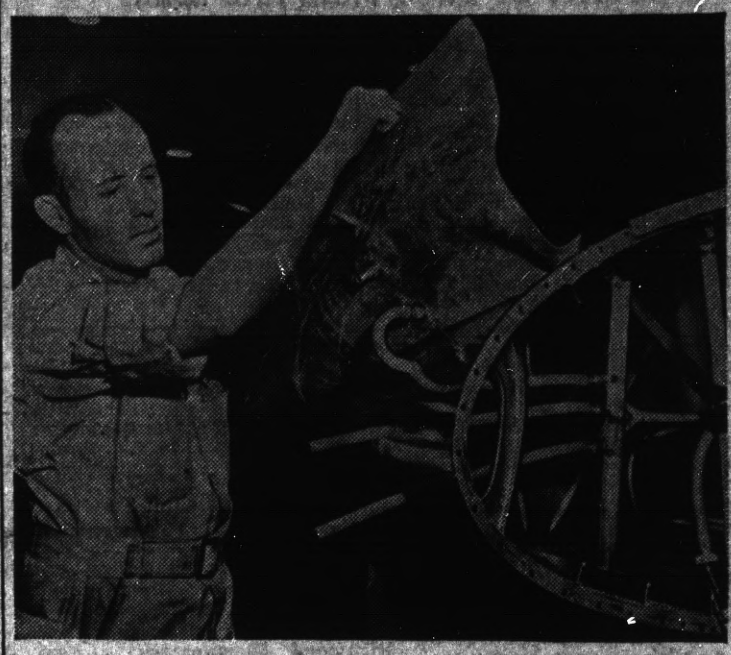
Dancing and singing through the battered streets of Gijon, the Nationalist rebel troops of General Franco are hailed by women of the city as they celebrate their victorious march through the Asturias to capture this important Loyalist stronghold.

De-Icer Promotes Air Safety



A mechanic shows a section of the new type of de-icers installed on T. W. A. planes to prevent possible forced landings and fatal crack-ups due to ice forming on the wings of the transports. Three tubes through which the air is forced every 47 seconds causing the specially treated and re-enforced covering to raise a distance of an inch and a half from the wing may clearly be seen.

Hymn Without Words "Sung" by Deaf Mutes

One of the strangest church services held anywhere in the world takes place every Sunday in the Cameron M. E. church in Cincinnati, Ohio. It is a service for deaf mutes conducted entirely in sign language. Here is a view of the choir of six as they "sing" "Nearer My God to Thee." Not a word is spoken throughout the service, the sermon being delivered in sign language by Rev. August H. Staubitz.

TOMATO BARRAGE

Gladys Swarthout, opera star and actress, wipes tomatoes from her features following a barrage of fruit tossed at her during a scene from her newest picture. She was playing the role of an unappreciated amateur. Note tomatoes on Miss Swarthout's $2,500 dress which she wore for the scene.

Haven for Uncalled-For Bikes

Hundreds of bicycles that have been picked up by the Detroit police after being lost or stolen find their way among the articles being auctioned off semi-annually. Police wonder why these bikes are never called for by their owners. Chester Klukowski, eleven, is shown undecided as to which one he will choose to bid on at the auction at the police warehouse.

Getting Ready for Fox Hunt

A group of hunters painting numbers on their dogs before the chase in which members of the Virginia Fox Hunters association participated recently near Petersburg. Note the pained expression on "33X" in the center. After the chase the hunters were served with "Brunswick stew" cooked in a huge iron kettle out-of-doors.

ON GIVING THANKS

Thanksgiving Day has just passed.

Your day may have brought a family gathering . . a dinner served on an attractive table . . or was it a day of meagre rations and little seemingly to be thankful for . . or possibly you were quite alone and depressed.

Many were the situations and conditions . . varied the Thanksgiving Dinner as to quality and quantity. Yet how many among us all paused to sincerely add up the things for which we were grateful . . and all of us do have something to be grateful or thankful) for.

Perhaps it was not money . . home . . clothes or the material things. There are many other things in this world of greater value . . there is courage and faith when we need it . . a smile and a kind word to lift us up . . the fact that we are not as some of our brothers in the midst of war and devastation . . there is health . . inner happiness and hope.

Did you drop a line to someone who had done you a gracious favor or been of help . . or drop in where possible to say a kind word . . did you share with those less fortunate and so give cause for another to be thankful?

Let us put more effort into making each day one of real THANKSGIVING in the future!

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laughead who have been visiting Mrs. T. H. Finley since September left Monday on the Owl for the first lap of their return journey to Middleport, Ohio. They will visit Mr. and Mrs. John Fry in Long Beach. They were accompanied as far as Long Beach by Mrs. Finley, who will remain with her daughter Mrs. Fry for several weeks.

New Postage Stamps

Always on the lookout to promote the interests of Point Richmond, the postmistress of our local branch has for sale the new Alaska stamps which were only available in Alaska on November 12. Mt. McKinley, the highest point in North America is pictured in the background, while in the foreground are scenes showing the present day developments of the Territory.

The stamps are purple in color and oblong in shape.

On December 15 there will be available at the Point branch office another new stamp. This is to be of the same size and color as the Alaska stamp, will show the city and harbor of Charlotte, Amalie, Virgin Islands, with the Sugar Loaf Islands in the distance. Stamp collectors are invited to call for these new additions to their collections.

BEDTIME STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

JUMPER THE HARE CONSULTS BUSTER BEAR

JUMPER THE HARE was sitting under a low growing hemlock tree deep in the Green Forest, where he could look out over the pond of Paddy the Beaver.

"Old Mother Nature certainly takes better care of some than she does of others," thought Jumper, just a wee bit bitterly, as he watched Paddy the Beaver swimming about in his pond. "Now, there is Paddy, perfectly safe out there in the water, and here am I, not safe anywhere. It isn't fair. It certainly isn't fair."

Then Jumper looked and listened anxiously for the least sign of Reddy Fox. But all was quiet, and once more he began to think about the unfairness of Old Mother Nature. Now, that isn't a bit like Jumper the Hare. Jumper is almost as happy-go-lucky as Peter Rabbit, and takes things just as they come. It wasn't long before he began to feel quite ashamed of himself for having such thoughts. He thought of those long legs Old Mother Nature had given him to take him quickly out of danger, and then he remembered how Paddy the Beaver has to get his food on shore, or most of it anyway, and how slow and clumsy Paddy is out of the water.

He was still thinking of this when a stick snapped a little way from him and his heart gave a great, frightened thump. You see, he had grown so anxious and nervous that whenever he heard a stick snap or a leaf rustle he was sure it was Reddy Fox trying to steal up on him. Jumper held his breath and looked in the direction from which the sound had come. There, shuffling along and muttering to himself, was Buster Bear. Jumper grinned. It was a very great relief to see Buster Bear instead of Reddy Fox. You see, Jumper isn't the least bit afraid of Buster, because he knows he can keep out of his way. Buster knows it, too, and so he wastes no time trying to catch Jumper. So they are very good friends. You see, they understand each other perfectly.

Jumper hopped out and sat up in front of Buster Bear. Buster sat up, too. Very funny they looked as they faced each other, one so very big and one so small, and both sitting up in just the same way.

"Hello, Buster!" said Jumper. "How do you like the Green Forest?"

Buster's little eyes twinkled as he grinned down at Jumper. "Pretty well, Jumper; pretty well, so far. Seems to me you are looking thin. Yes, sir, you are looking thin."

"It's all your fault!" cried Jumper.

Buster Bear looked puzzled. "How is it my fault?" he demanded.

Then Jumper told him the whole story, how he had been sent to invite Buster to meet the other little people of the Green Forest, how Reddy Fox had tried to catch him, and then had been terribly frightened by the sudden appearance of Buster and had run, and then how he (Jumper) had run after him just for fun, and how all the little people were making fun of Reddy now, so that he was spending all his time trying to catch Jumper so as to get even. Buster's eyes twinkled more than ever as he listened.

"Buster," Said Jumper, "How Do You Like the Green Forest?"

"Perhaps I can help you," said he.

"Oh, will you? That would be perfectly splendid!" cried Jumper.

FIRST-AID TO AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

HOT WATER COIL IN A FIRE BOX

WITH hot-air furnaces, and often with house heating boilers, it is very common to obtain running hot water through a coil or similar arrangement in the fire box. There are several reasons why this does not work out. For one thing, the water in the heating coil absorbs heat so quickly that the nearby part of the fire is deadened. The fire then burns unevenly, with a bad effect on the heating of the house. One of my correspondents writes to me of his experience in this connection. He had used a fire box coil for seven years, with poor luck, for several had burned out. On complaining to the maker of the heater, he was advised to substitute a separate coal burning stove for water heating. He writes:

"I followed the advice, and shall never regret it. In the last hard winter, I heated the house with two tons less of furnace coal, which I attribute entirely to the removal of the water heating coil from the furnace. I burn small coal in my water heating stove, but at less cost and in less quantity. I find it much easier to keep my furnace at house-heating efficiency. The house has been comfortable all winter; warmer than any of my neighbors', and with less fuel consumption. The theory of the furnace maker seems proven. It takes so many heat units to heat a house, and so many to heat hot water. If you use some of the heat units in the furnace for water, they are not being used for the house. The fire gets lopsided; hot on one side and cool on the other, greatly decreasing the efficiency."

That theory is entirely sound. A furnace is supposed to be of the proper size for a particular house, and if some of the heat produced in it is taken away from house heating to use for heating water, there is less left for the real purpose.

There is another reason against the use of a fire box coil. The water cannot be prevented from overheating; as a result, steam is formed, and the water may be discolored by the throwing down of sediment. Steam in the hot water pipes causes unpleasant rumbling noises. What is more serious, there is a possibility that the excess pressure may burst the hot water tank. This is so common that plumbing and heating ordinances usually require that such systems be provided with an automatic relief valve to blow off steam.

A water-heating stove should be of such size and so arranged that the fire will need attention but once a day. In addition, it should be provided with a damper regulator that will shut off the draft when the water reaches the desired temperature—usually 140 degrees. This is plenty hot enough for all household uses, while at the same time it is too low a temperature to produce much, if any, sediment.

When Washing Blankets: Never leave any soap in blankets as this will turn them yellow. Allow half a cupful of vinegar to each gallon of final rinsing water; this will clear all soap from them.

Improving Flavor of Bacon.—When boiling bacon or any kind of salted meat, the flavor will be improved if six cloves, a dessertspoonful of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of brown sugar, a sprig of mint, and a grating of nutmeg are added to the water.

To Wash Velour Curtains.—Did you know that curtains and table covers of heavy velvet-finished furnishing velour can be washed? The trick is never to wring them—just douse them in warm soapy water, then in clear water and hang out dripping wet to dry.

* * *

Ten-Minute Sweet.—Line a buttered pie dish with breadcrumbs. Into a pint of milk whisk 2 eggs, 4 tablespoonfuls of sugar and a dash of vanilla essence. Pour over the crumbs and bake for 10 minutes.

* * *

Savory Salmon Dish.—Turn out a small tin of salmon, remove skin and bones and flake the fish. Season with pepper and salt. Mix 2 cupfuls of breadcrumbs with 2 ounces of flour, stir in 2 well-beaten eggs and the salmon. Mix well, then form into the shape of a fresh salmon steak. Fry in a little hot fat until brown, turning carefully so that both sides are cooked. Serve garnished with sliced lemon or tomatoes.

* * *

Washing Voile.—Voile frocks will not shrink if you use a tablespoonful of epsom salts to every gallon of water when washing them.

* * *

In Making Vegetable Salads.—To prevent vegetable salads from becoming too watery, dry the vegetables before combining with the salad dressing.

Wipe Up Acid Foods.—Since some enamels lose their luster when they come in contact with acid, always be careful to wipe up, immediately, any vinegar, lemon juice, tomato, or other acid food that is spilled on the enamel of your range.

Overdone Politeness

From early childhood, the Chinese are taught so thoroughly to mind their own business that they rarely render assistance when a person is drowning, a house is burning or a store is being robbed. In fact, purse-snatching in broad daylight is a common occurrence on the streets of Chinese cities because thieves are fairly certain that no one will interfere.—Collier's Weekly.

THE CAULIFLOWER COLYUM

By Frankie Neil

Former Bantamweight Champion of the World

Having arrived in Australia it was natural that I should be expected to give the Anzacs a demonstration of my ability in the squared circle.

Before they would give me a match they wanted me to have a tryout and I arranged for that by boxing with a soldier of fortune, Thompson by name. And lo and behold, the name arrived the night of the tryout in the form of a welterweight of the same name.

* * *

Two friends of mine and myself got together and we went to the club in a hansom cab. It was fine transportation in those days.

Arriving in good time we were met by Mr. Scott and a number of Australian sports writers—one of whom wrote for a paper by the name of Gayety. They treated me nice, putting it on heavy, and I felt all puffed up with the reception.

Into the club we go and it is packed. Everybody in evening dress, and I wondered what it was all about, and did not suspect anything wrong. But I did learn later that they were charging admission to the tryout.

I went into a swell dressing-room, the door was closed behind me by a negro lackey, as they were called. I never did see so much fuss over a try-out.

All was in readiness for the bout and out comes a young chap just a few years over my age which at that time was 16. Wow, did he look fit and tough? Of course I was fit, too, as I had done some boxing on the ship on the way over.

Up to me steps the gentleman in evening clothes who was to act as referee, and says to me: "'Ow do you want to box? Is it "it" at all times?" And I said "I guess so" for though I did not know what he was talking about, I thought it would suit me.

Bong, goes the gong. I proceed to the center of the ring, and my opponent says, "'Ello, old chappie, look out for yourself!" And I said, "All right kid, I will-"

He danced around like jumping jack, and, being inexperienced, I waded in, and one on the beezer I get for my trouble. Again and again it happened. Wowie, was I mad? Into him I go with all fists flying right into his lunch basket I landed, and down to the floor he goes.

Mr. Blackwell, or Buckwell, or whatever my opponents name was, must have thought he had run into an Australian typhoon because as soon as he arose at the count of nine and looked at me, he left the ring as if he was going for a doctor.

Holy Gee, into the ring comes another. The referee says to me, "I say, old fellow, will you give us a bit more of your wares." Evidently I had not shown them anything yet (!) so I looked at the fellow in the other corner. He looked like Jack Dempsey to me. Weighed about 150 pounds, and I weighed but 113 pounds.

When we got to mixing in the center of the ring I asked him to take it easy as I was pretty small. He laughed and said as "'ow he would." His name I learned later was Thompson and subsequently he became the welterweight champion of Australia, his name being prominent as his two brothers became champions in that commonwealth also.

The gong sounds and we are out in the center of the ring. He also starts dancing around like a ballet girl. I could not land on him anywhere. It goes that way for two rounds. He had been been playing with me, I learned, but it was to his sorrow, for in the third round Little Mr. Dynamite gets worked up inside of me and into HIS bread basket goes my left and ordered a mattress for his hulk which landed on the canvas, groaning and grunting as he was carried to his corner.

You won't believe this but it is a fact nevertheless—they then asked me to box his brother—who was a middleweight.

I smilingly declined and told them I had not come to Australia to box with their great champion, Bob Fitzsimmons, or in his heavyweight class and politely asked to have a match with their BANTAMWEIGHT champion.

They promised me the next show with the bantamweight champion but it never materialized, of which I shall tell you next week.
